OCLC Number: (OCoLC)281792460 Subject: Pressurized water reactors -- Loss of coolant. Excerpt: . . . EXECUTIVE SUMMARY The Integrated Chemical Effects Test ( ICET ) program was conceived as a limited-scope exercise to simulate representative chemical conditions in pressurized-water-reactor ( PWR ) containment buildings following a postulated loss-of-coolant accident ( LOCA ). Principal objectives of the series included ( 1 ) monitoring long-term tests for the formation of chemical products that could adversely affect emergency-core-cooling-system sump performance, ( 2 ) identifying the composition of adverse products, and ( 3 ) explaining the formation processes of adverse products. The enclosed stainless-steel test apparatus was designed to accommodate both submerged and suspended material samples that were introduced in proportion to representative inventories found in containment. Various debris sources included fiberglass and calcium-silicate insulation, crushed concrete, and common dirt. Heated 60 C solution was sprayed over suspended coupons for 4 hours, and the tank was circulated and monitored continuously for 30 days. While data were collected during Test 1, an extensive literature search was conducted to help explain the trends that were observed and additional bench-scale experiments were performed post-test to confirm the conclusions that were drawn regarding the formation of observed products. Test 5 shared many of the same attributes, including aluminum corrosion in a high-pH environment and complex interactions between sodium, aluminum, silicon, and boron. This report summarizes the findings of the literature search and benchscale experiments and synthesizes plausible explanations for the aluminum chemistry trends and chemical products that were observed in ICET Tests 1 an. . .
