Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Tippecanoe Text-Book, Compiled From Niles Register and Other Authentic Records The compiler of the following pages was for nearly twenty years connected with Niles register, either as associate or principal editor of that work. In October last he retired from it; but since General Harrison s nomination for the presidency, numerous applications have been addressed to him from different sections of the country, by individuals seeking official information illustrative of the character and services of that veteran soldier-statesman. Such information as is embraced in the pages of the Register has always been promptly and cheerfully given. But he thought it he could relieve himself from the necessity of answering every individual applicant, and perform an acceptable service to the friends of general Harrison, by making a synopsis of all the documents, c., in the Register, and publishing it in the whig newspapers. He had not, however, advanced far in that task, before he discovered that it would be utterly impracticable to compress within the limits of a newspaper the vast mass of testimony which is necessary to do full justice to his character, and to satisfy the reasonable curiosity of the public; especially that younger portion, who were not actors in the busy scenes of the late war with Great Britain. He, therefore, made an arrangement with general Duff Green for the publication of the following compilation; for which he claims no credit, and is fully sensible that it abounds with evidences of the haste with which it was prepared for the press. But he has kept it free from all comments which might reflect upon general Harrison s former associates, and confined himself...
