Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.This hard hitting book describes domestic violence from the male victim s point of view. Male victims of domestic violence are not only victimized by abusive women but also by a justice system that refuses to protect men from violent women. Local law enforcement agencies do not take action to deter female to male domestic violence even when allegations of abuse are reported and clearly documented in police reports. For decades, law enforcement agencies have not been properly trained to identify female batterers or false reporters, largely because of political considerations. Therefore, responding officers rarely question women s statements during a report because they lack training and fall back on faulty gender stereotypes. In most cases, female batterers count on gender stereotypes when making a false allegation. Using the harmful myth of men are abusers and women are victims in domestic violence situations gives female batterers even more power and control over their male victims. However, when men report abuse they will often receive no sympathy or protection from their batterer. Abused men, more often than not, are arrested when woman provide a flimsy statement to hide the abuse she inflicted on her victim. Most domestic violence courts do not provide men accused of domestic violence fair trials or allow evidence in their defense. Even worse, some judges presiding over domestic violence cases associate and collaborate with liberal-feminist controlled behavioral health organizations. These organizations encourage arresting all men during domestic violence disputes regardless of the circumstances involved in each case, even male victims. These behavioral health organizations do not receive federal or state funding for female batterers so they encourage and train local law enforcement...
