The situation was summed up by Carlyle, when he said that Deity to the average British mind was simply an infinite George IV, The thought of God as a terrible Supreme Tyrant first found form in an unlimited monarchy; but as governments have become more lenient so have the gods, until you get them down (or up) to a republic, where God is only a president, and we all approach Him in familiar prayer, on an absolute equality. Then soon, for the first time, we find man saying, I am God, and you are God, and we are all simply particles of Him, and this is where the president is done away with, and the referendum comes in. But the absence of a supreme governing head implies simplicity, honesty, justice, and sincerity J Wherever plottings, schemings and doubtful methods of life...
